Do you have a clear understanding of your leadership, your strengths, your principles and your purpose?

Are there potential improvements you can see, but are unsure about how to make them happen?

Are you having the impact you want, and are capable of, on issues that matter to you?

If the answer is yes, then BP Leaders for Life could be for you.

Surf Life Saving New Zealand is now accepting applications for the 2018-19 season BP Leaders for Life Programme. A total of 15 candidates will be selected and the selection process will involve regions identifying key leaders and the short listed candidates will then have interview.

Group projects will be worked on for a full year at a series of five workshops between July and May 2019 with a list of project topics provided for candidates to select from.

BP Leaders for Life is part of a national strategy to support a wide range of development opportunities for Surf Life Saving members. The purpose of the programme is to enhance the abilities of current and emerging leaders to make a real difference to their clubs and across the wider Surf Life Saving community.

SLSNZ Member Development Manager Belinda Slement says BP Leaders for Life is a fantastic programme on offer to members and previous candidates have produced some exceptional results.

Applications close on Sunday May 13.
